Speak Lord, for Your Servant is Listening

Verse References

God speaks to us powerfully through Scripture, through the Holy Spirit, in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament, and in the providential circumstances He is unfolding in our lives and throughout history.

Personal Reflection

As you read 1 Samuel 3:1-10, ask yourself, "What is God saying to all mankind, and what is God saying to me personally right now?"

Reflect on a time you heard God speak to you. How did He speak to you? What did He say? How did you feel when you heard His voice?

How can you carve out intentional time to listen to God in silence? If you already are, what is He saying to you?

Eli gives excellent formation to Samuel, helping him to recognize that he is being called by God. How can you cultivate relationships with others who can help you recognize God's voice? How can you help others hear and recognize God's voice?
